

The USA Immigration stages and processes

Many families desire to start a new life living and working in The United States of America. The first step is knowing where to start...then understanding the difficulties likely to be involved in such a decision, and how to overcome them.

There are four major issues and decisions to overcome when deciding to move to USA:

1. Deciding which USA Visa will give you and your family the best chance of qualifying?

How we can help:

We will identify the best route to achieving your new life in the USA, taking into account your unique personal circumstances, and identify the specific visa or work permit that will meet your objectives. There are over 100 different routes and the decision process is far from being straight forward. Timing is often crucial

2. Getting that USA Visa – which may not easy when you consider that US Embassy officials often actively look for ways to turn down visa applications. Additionally the American immigration system itself is one of the most complex in the world and the paperwork can be daunting.

How we can help:

We will assist completion of the forms, present your case positively and accurately to Embassy officials and progress all aspects of your Visa application until satisfactory completion.

3. Dealing with job and business issues, including licensing and accreditation regulations.

How we can help:

We'll help with advice and practical assistance on job issues including liaison with your future employer so that the job you obtain meets the requirements of your visa. If you need to comply with any other regulations - like licensing or accreditation by a professional or trade body – we'll prepare all the necessary paperwork on your behalf.

Alternatively if you wish to pursue other options, such as self-employment, setting up a business or making a visa-qualifying investment, we will provide all the advisory and practical assistance you'll need.

4. Coping with domestic and personal matters:- finance, education, children, possessions, pets etc.

How we can help:

From our expert knowledge of relocating people to America we'll make certain that all these domestic aspects of your move are covered so that your move goes smoothly.
